

Bob Robinson's ministry to college students, college faculty, church leaders, and marketplace leaders.

It's a New School Year!

A major part of my work is reaching out to college students at our area campuses. We launched a new ministry this year at Kent State Stark called "REVIVE!" Our new student leaders are fired up about bringing revival to this secular campus. Brielle Black is our new president, a visionary leader who is on fire for Jesus. Please pray that God will connect me with students that need to hear the gospel and know Jesus Christ.

At Stark State College, I lead a faculty and staff Bible study every other Friday morning. We are praying for the success of the students on this campus, many of whom are seeking an education in order to embark on careers other than the minimum wage ones that they currently have. Please pray along with us!

At Malone University, I'm going to lead a weekly Life Group of 20 students later this semester! Please pray for opportunities to help students deepen their commitment to Jesus Christ as Lord.

Helping Pastors & Churches

I have been welcomed into a national pastors network called Made to Flourish, where pastors are trained in how to help their people live out their faith in the marketplace. I will be taking part in our Made to Flourish one-day retreat called "Entrepreneurship for Human Flourishing" on October 8. I am currently in negotiations to have (re)integrate partner with Made to Flourish. Please pray that doors will open that will allow me to consult with church leaders in northeast Ohio. See www.madetoflourish.org

I will lead a breakout session at this year's Equip2Serve Conference sponsored by the Ohio Christian Education Association (OCEA). I will speak on how churches can equip their people to live out their faith in and through their work. The conference is Fri - Sat, Oct. 22- 23 at Malone University. Please pray that I am clear and helpful to those in attendance. See www.ocea.org

I have partnered with The Malone Center for Christian Faith & Culture to speak to area pastors, marketplace leaders, and Malone students on how to (re)integrate faith and vocation. Join us on Monday, November 9, 7:00-8:00 at Malone University! Please pray that I will be clear and helpful for those in attendance.

Resource Development

I've been honored to write for a blog as part of the Faith and Work Channel at Patheos.com, the largest English speaking religion website in the world. Please pray that through this venue, the message that God's mission is accomplished through our vocations is heard and more people will explore this topic. What you are supporting with your prayers and financial gifts

Bob Robinson's ministry is multifaceted and touches the lives of people in different stages of their vocations.

College Students: Bob spends 30 hours per week reaching out to college students at Kent State Stark, Stark State College, and Malone University. He leads small group Bible studies and larger fellowship gatherings, has one-on-one discipleship meetings, and connects with unchristian students on these campuses every day.

Marketplace Leaders: Bob's writing is featured at the Patheos Faith and Work Channel at the (re)integrate blog, encouraging people to live out their faith in their various vocations. Bob speaks at retreats and seminars on how God is calling his people to (re)integrate faith, life and vocations in order to participate in God's mission in the world.

Church Leaders: Bob works with Ohio pastors to help them create a discipleship culture that encourages God's people to participate in God's mission through their vocations. He provides consulting, curriculum, and resources to encourage pastors in their work.

Financially Partnering with Bob's Ministry
To Support this ministry, some send their tax-deductible gift to CCO, others to Reintegrate. Reintegrate is in partnership with CCO.
